

2010 Crackdown?
CKNW, 2008-03-27

VANCOUVER - Groups ranging from the B-C Civil Liberties Association to the Pivot Legal Society are raising concerns about a crackdown taking place on the Downtown Eastside leading up to the games.

David Eby from Pivot Legal says the city of Vancouver appears to be more concerned with hassling residents of the area instead of helping them. Eby points to the recent announcement of more downtown ambassadors and police officers, calling it evidence of the city's misguided priorities. He along with the other groups were discussing the impacts of the games on the city at a forum last night.
